

9 - WARRANTY CERTIFICATE

This warranty covers the appliance purchased from any manufacturing defects for a period of 2 (two) years from the date of purchase, attested by a valid fiscal document. For any extensions, make a written request to the manufacturer.

For the warranty to be operational, the warranty certificate must be kept along with one of the valid documents that states the identification data of the product.

Warranty intends the replacement or repair of the parts making up the appliance, which are faulty due to manufacturing, free of charge.

If the fault cannot be repaired or repeated breakdown at the same source, the machine will be replaced according to the manufacturer's unquestionable judgement. The warranty of the new appliance will continue until the end of the original contract.

If the appliance should have faults that are not covered by the warranty and that the same has expired, all transport costs must be undertaken by the customer.

The warranty becomes null and void when the parts should be faulty due to negligence or carelessness of use, incorrect installation or maintenance, maintenance performed by unqualified staff, damage by transport i.e. circumstances that cannot be traced to manufacturing defects. Also excluded from the warranty are interventions inherent installation and connection to power supply plants.

The warranty does not cover normal wear of the appliance and marginal defects that do not really affect the value or appliance functioning.

The warranty is also null and void in the case of improper use of the appliance.

The warranty can only be applied for the Purchaser with regular payments.

The manufacturer declines all liability for any injury/damage that can derive directly or indirectly, to persons, objects or animals, as a consequence of the failure to comply with the provisions indicated.
